Undergraduate teacher-training, special courses for foreign students, related courses, etc.				2013 academic year
Divisions/departments	Course subjects	*1 CCBM	No. of enrolled students	No. of students who earned credits
	*1 The Color Code Benchmark (CCBM) system utilizes different simple and easy-to-understand colors to indicate the level of a course in light of its positioning and educational goals in the curriculum structure.
(1) Pink:	Courses in the curriculum structure that are best if taken first, from the standpoint of the overall order of study. Or, courses that do not fall into any specific order in relation to other offered courses, but for which the difficulty of the content or the targets of learning are set at a relatively low level.
(2) Green:	Courses in the curriculum structure that are best if taken after courses indicated by the color code pink, from the standpoint of the overall order of study. Or, courses that do not fall into any specific order in relation to other offered courses, but for which the difficulty of the content or the targets of learning are set
(3) Red:	Courses that are best if taken after courses indicated by the color code green, from the standpoint of the overall order of study. Or, courses that a student is authorized to take after achieving a certain grade point level in green courses. Or, courses that do not fall into any specific order in relation to other offered courses, but for which the difficulty of the content or the targets of learning are set at a high level.
(4) Ivory:	Courses related to teacher, etc., qualifications.
(5) White:	Core courses (other than courses in information-related fields and foreign language courses) or
